

1. If your company lost 80% of its revenue tomorrow, what would you do in the first 72 hours?

2. You have two choices:

- A safe decision that will keep the company alive.
- A risky decision that could make the company 10x bigger.

Which would you choose, and why?

3. Your most talented employee consistently violates the company's values. Do you keep them or let them go?

4. What problem in the world would you dedicate the next 10 years of your life to solving, and why?

5. Tell me about your biggest failure. What did it teach you, and how did it change the way you think?

6. If you could disrupt any industry today, which one would it be and how would you do it?

7. How do you know when you're wrong?

8. You're given a team of 100 people, but you can only keep 10. How would you decide who stays?

9. What is a belief you once held strongly but completely changed your mind about? What caused that change?

10. If money didn't matter, failure was impossible, and nobody could judge you, what mission would you dedicate your life to?
